27th January 2010 – The London Architecture of John Nash

The appointment of John Nash (1752-1835) as architect to the Department of Woods and Forests in 1806, led to the related Metropolitan Improvements, including Regent's Street, All Souls Langham Place, Waterloo Place and the Theatre Royal, How was so much accomplished in such a short time? Lecture by Hilary Williams

Last Lecture – December 16th 2009 Three Wise Men

The term "Magi" refers to the Zoroastrian priest-sages, anonymous wise men who were specialists in medicine, religion and astronomy. We heard about the adoration of the Magi which is one of the most popular religious subjects for the great artists, we followed their work over five centuries starting in 12th century Pisa. Lecture by Christopher Bradley
